

1. Customer Persona for Blinkit

Customer Persona: “Aarav – The Busy Young Shopper”

Characteristic	Details
Name	Aarya jain
Age	22 years
Gender	female
Location	Ahmedabad, Gujarat
Occupation	College student
Interests	Technology, food, movies, , fitness, social media and online shopping
Goals	Save time, get groceries quickly, find good discounts and avoid visiting crowded stores
Needs	Fast delivery, easy payment options, affordable products and a simple app experience
Digital Habits	Uses Instagram, YouTube and WhatsApp daily; frequently shops through mobile apps
Shopping Behaviour	Makes small and frequent purchases, especially snacks, beverages, personal-care products and daily essentials
Preferred Device	Smartphone
Buying Motivation	Convenience, speed, discounts and easy ordering
Pain Points	Delivery delays, unavailable products and high delivery charges

Persona Description

Aarya is a 22-year-old college student living in Ahmedabad who has a busy schedule because of college, assignments and her extra classes for skills development. she prefers using Blinkit because she can order groceries, snacks and daily essentials without going to a physical store. she spends several hours a day on her smartphone and regularly uses social-media and entertainment apps. Discounts, quick delivery and convenient digital payments strongly influence her purchasing decisions.

2. Comparison of Two Customer Personas for Myntra

Characteristic	College Student Persona	Working Professional Persona
Age	18–22 years	25–35 years
Occupation	College student	Full-time working professional
Income	Low/limited income or pocket money	Regular monthly salary
Shopping Budget	Price-conscious and looks for discounts	Willing to spend more for quality
Main Interests	Fashion trends, sneakers, casual wear, influencers	Formal wear, smart casuals, branded clothing
Shopping Frequency	Occasional, especially during sales	Regular, depending on work and social events
Main Goal	Look fashionable at an affordable price	Look professional, stylish and well-dressed
Digital Habits	Heavy Instagram, YouTube and social-media use	Uses Instagram, LinkedIn, YouTube and shopping apps
Buying Motivation	Discounts, trends and peer influence	Quality, brand reputation, convenience and reviews
Preferred Products	T-shirts, jeans, sneakers, accessories	Shirts, trousers, watches, footwear and office wear

Summary

The college student is more price-sensitive and influenced by fashion trends and social media. The working professional generally has greater purchasing power and focuses more on quality, comfort, brands and professional appearance.

3. Marketing Messages for a New Spotify Feature

Chosen Persona: College Student

Suppose Spotify launches a new feature called “Study & Focus Mode”, which automatically creates personalized playlists for studying and concentration.

Marketing Message

Why It Appeals to the Persona

1. “Study smarter, not harder. 🎧 Let Spotify create the perfect focus playlist for your next exam.”	College students often need music while studying.
2. “Your mood. Your music. Your study session. Discover a playlist made just for you.”	Young users enjoy personalization. The message makes the feature feel more personal to them .
3. “From morning classes to late-night assignments—Spotify has the soundtrack for every moment.”	Students have different activities throughout the day. This message positions Spotify as a regular part of their daily lifestyle.

4. Customer Persona Analysis of Raj Shamani's Instagram

Raj Shamani is an entrepreneur, speaker and host of the Figuring Out podcast. His content focuses heavily on business, personal development, finance, motivation and entrepreneurship. Current influencer-analysis data also categorizes his content around personal development, motivational speaking, entrepreneurship, mindset and productivity.

His official website describes Figuring Out as conversations with founders, leaders and thinkers, while his social-media content is aimed at people interested in learning, growth and building successful careers.

Likely Target Customer Persona

Trait	Description
Age Group	Mainly young adults, approximately 18–35 years
Interests	Entrepreneurship, business, finance, self-improvement, productivity and career growth
Lifestyle	Ambitious, digitally active and interested in personal and professional development
Goals	Build a successful career, start a business, increase income and improve personal skills
Digital Behaviour	Regularly consumes Instagram Reels, podcasts, YouTube videos and other educational content
Education/Career Stage	College students, aspiring entrepreneurs, startup founders and young working professionals
Values	Growth, ambition, discipline, learning and financial independence

Four Key Traits of His Target Audience

1. Ambitious and career-focused

His content frequently discusses entrepreneurship, business opportunities, success and career development, making it attractive to people who want to improve their professional lives.

2. Interested in self-improvement

His content categories include personal development, motivation, mindset and productivity. This suggests that his audience actively looks for advice that can help them improve their habits and performance.

3. Young and digitally active

Raj built his audience through platforms such as Instagram, YouTube and LinkedIn, and his content is designed for people who consume short-form and long-form digital content. His earlier growth was also strongly connected to Instagram and social-media content.

4. Interested in business and financial success

His podcast and social content regularly feature entrepreneurs, business leaders and discussions about finance, wealth, careers and opportunities. Therefore, his audience is likely to include students, young professionals and aspiring entrepreneurs who want practical knowledge about money and business.

Conclusion

Raj Shamani's typical target persona can be described as a young, ambitious and digitally active Indian who wants to learn about business, money, career growth and self-improvement. His combination of motivational content, business discussions and interviews with successful people makes his content especially relevant to college students, and young professionals